Incredibly contemporary, Upper Austria

In Linz on the Danube, culture meets vitality

Linz on the Danube really is for anyone who is open to new experiences and lives in the here and now. The unique character of the city is just waiting to be discovered. The strength of the river and the easy-going nature of the city's inhabitants exist side by side. The vibrant museums and the historical Old Town perfectly complement each other because of their differences. Almost as surreal are the boat trips along the harbour's metre-high graffiti artworks or the industrial tours. These experiences, in all their diversity, encapsulate Linz. Just immersing yourself in this atmosphere once will be enough to have you coming back to the city for years to come.

"Linz changes" is not just an empty phrase: the city in the centre of Upper Austria is always reinventing itself, while at the same time remaining authentic and looking towards the future. An important milestone in the city's development was its designation as Capital of Culture 2009 – 2019 is the tenth anniversary of this event. Linz is also proud to hold the title of UNESCO City of Media Arts, something which visitors can really experience when they're here. The fact that the city also engages with the past in a contemporary manner and translates this into the present led the European Commission to further acknowledge Linz in 2018 with the "European Smart Tourism Award" in the "Cultural Heritage & Creativity" category. This just goes to show that another of Linz's strengths is making historical cultural heritage accessible through creative approaches.

Explore Linz together

Organising a group trip to the city of the future really is the epitome of the zeitgeist. The diversity, short distances and authentic experiences will excite all those taking part. They will be surprised and amazed. And, thus, you will remember your group trip to Linz for a long time, with all its culture and incredible moments.

Experience the future in Linz today

At first glance, it is a former industrial city, at second glance an exciting metropolis of culture; you will be full of curiosity and anticipation before your visit, and a surprising passion for the city after your trip: all of this, and more, awaits you in Linz, where the future is already here.

If it is your first time in the city, let yourself be carried away by the open atmosphere of the city centre, by the buildings from a huge variety of eras, by the diverse cultural offerings and by the Danube, which is a part of Linz now more than ever. What sets this city apart from others is its character and its constant evolution. A particular turning point was 2009, when Linz became the European Capital of Culture. The list of new openings around that time is impressive, from the Schlossmuseum to the voestalpine Stahlwelt, the Ars Electronica Center and the Pöstlingbergbahn Hauptplatz extension. Another legacy of Linz09 is the Musiktheater, which was opened in 2013 and is one of the most modern opera houses in Europe. The ideas, projects and initiatives from the Capital of Culture year still excite visitors and residents alike.

Immerse yourself in the city of change

In Linz, the banks of the Danube are a place of relaxation and culture: the green areas and restaurants invite you to linger during the day and at night the futuristic, illuminated façades of the museums are guaranteed to amaze. Equally impressive are the exhibitions, which range from the contemporary works in the Lentos Art Museum to the innovative developments and projects in the Ars Electronica Center. In the Museum of the Future, technological forward-thinking meets visionary media art.

Further downstream in the industrial harbour is an art project of a different kind: “Mural Harbor” is Europe’s largest graffiti and muralismo gallery with around 200 spray-painted works along the harbour. And in the nearby industrial area the voestalpine Stahlwelt offers a unique look behind the scenes.

Although its constant change and forward-looking nature are what give Linz its identity, people are always the central focus in the UNESCO City of Media Arts. Anyone who is curious and open will have an unforgettable time in the city on the Danube, enjoy new experiences and see for themselves the change which characterises this city.

The Danube in Upper Austria

The Danube – one of Europe's greatest storytellers – flows leisurely along, telling tales of times long ago, of powerful rulers and the local inhabitants' wealth of legends and myths. The Danube knows so many of the stories that have shaped the land and its people since they came into being. There is much to discover in the Upper Austrian section of the river: the Danube traveller enjoys breathtaking views, walks legendary trails, explores the beautiful river landscape on the Danube Cycle Path, experiences the countryside rolling by from a boat and samples culinary delicacies.

DANUBE CULTURE

The great river connecting Europe was and is used primarily as a transport route, not only for the conveyance of people and goods, but also for the exchange of culture and language. By exploring the Roman sites along the Danube, you get an idea of the significance the Danube had for the Romans as the natural border of the Danube limes. When the church was reorganised after the Roman period, numerous monasteries and abbeys were built by the Danube.

With the Habsburg Monarchy, the Danube region enjoyed what was surely its most glorious time of prosperity. Empress Sisi, in particular, indulged her love of travelling by taking frequent trips along the Danube and she began her bridal journey by boat from Passau to Vienna.

DANUBE CYCLE PATH

The famous Danube Cycle Path runs along the great river from Germany through Austria and on to Hungary. Cyclists can look forward to a peaceful, romantic and yet varied cycle path from Passau to Grein via Linz along the Upper Austrian section of the Danube.
www.donauradweg.at

DONAUSTEIG

Over 450 km and 23 stages, the Donausteig hiking trail runs from Passau to Grein via Linz. On both sides of the Danube, the hiking trail, which was awarded the Austrian Hiking Quality Seal, provides breathtaking views of and perspectives on the great river and the unique landscape through which it flows.
www.donausteig.com

DANUBE BOAT TRIP

You can reach the opposite bank in a leisurely manner on board one of the Danube boats. Various stages on the Danube Cycle Path or the Donausteig hiking trail can also be covered by boat.

THE DANUBE BEND AT SCHLÖGEN

The Danube bend at Schlögen is an archetypal meander. Here, the Danube makes two truly spectacular changes in direction. It's worth stopping and going to the viewpoint on foot. A short walk takes you through the forest, after which you'll be rewarded with an unobstructed view of this fascinating spectacle of nature.

THE AUGUSTINIAN PRIORY OF ST. FLORIAN

www.stift-st-florian.at

The Augustinian Priory of St. Florian is a place of fellowship and devotion, and, at the same time, a cultural focal point for the region. It was in this ecclesiastical community that Bruckner immersed himself deep in the world of music, first as a choirboy and later as an organist. It was here that he perfected his organ playing and created his first large-scale compositions. And it was here, in the vault beneath the organ, that he found his final resting place.

Bruckner Organ at St. Florian
Master organ builder Franz Xaver Krismann began building the Anton Bruckner Organ in 1770 in the artist's honour. Over the course of time, it was enlarged and now comprises 4 manuals, 103 stops and 7,386 organ pipes.

BRUCKNERHAUS

www.brucknerhaus.at

Dietmar Kerschbaum, the new director, came to Linz in order to reposition the Brucknerhaus. This is why a lot has changed since the beginning of the 2018/19 season, including the programme. First and foremost, it adheres to the motto: Creed – Denomination, Belief, Religion. That doesn't mean, however, that religious music is the only thing on offer. The programme is angled more towards the search for the traces of the divine in music – this could be in a symphony, a sonata, a song, a string quartet or a jazz improvisation piece just as much as in Gustav Mahler's monumental 8th Symphony which requires eight solo singers as well as a large orchestra and three choirs. Markus Poschner will take to the conductor's podium of the Bruckner Orchestra Linz which will perform other symphonic masterpieces in spring 2019, such as Brahm's 4th symphony and, in its first European performance, the 5th Symphony, the Apocalyptic, by exiled Austrian Karl Weigl. Top international orchestras will also be giving guest performances in the Brucknerhaus, such as The Knights from New York, who will accompany the celebrated mandolin virtuoso, Avi Avital, or the Paris Orchestra, who will bring Benjamin Britten's pacifist War Requiem to life with Daniel Harding conducting. In the new subscriber series WortKlang, Burgtheater stars like Peter Matić, Peter Simonischek and Birgit Minichmayr will be honoured, and renowned pianists such as Rudolf Buchbinder and Martin Helmchen will also be guests in the Brucknerhaus. Their colleague Kit Armstrong will also feature in the same performance, in Saint-Saën's famous organ symphony, both as a pianist and as an organist – this will surely be a sensational highlight of 2019 at the Brucknerhaus. Above all, the new organ, which was constructed in summer, is a particular focal point due to organ concerts by internationally renowned organists as well as the popular series "Organ Music at Tea Time".

Encounter Anton Bruckner where he grew up and where he took his first great artistic steps: in St. Florian and Linz.

ITINERARY

Day 1: Linz
With your Austria Guide, you will undertake a walking tour in Anton Bruckner's footsteps in the Upper Austrian capital. For example, you will get to visit the Bruckner Organ in the Old Cathedral, which the master lovingly called "his organ". Following this, you will ascend the Bruckner Stairway where you'll see display windows and posters detailing the life and works of Anton Bruckner. Overnight stay in a good, middle-class hotel in Linz.

Day 2: St Florian's Priory
The Augustinian Priory in St. Florian was a home for Anton Bruckner even in his younger years. As a child, he was a member of the famous Florian Boy's Choir and, later, a teacher and the priory's organist. Anton Bruckner was laid to rest under the larger Bruckner Organ in the priory church. On a tour, you will get to know the historic and stately rooms in St. Florian's priory. A short organ concert on the Bruckner Organ rounds off the trip. At lunch you can enjoy a refreshing two-course lunch in the priory's cellar.

Included services:
- 1 night and breakfast buffet in a good, middle-class hotel in Linz
- City tour "In Bruckner's Footsteps" with an Austria Guide in Linz
- Admission and visit to the Bruckner Stairway
- Admission and tour of St. Florian's Priory

VOESTALPINE STAHLWELT

www.voestalpine.com/stahlwelt

voestalpine Stahlwelt

Exciting world of experiences
voestalpine Stahlwelt allows a glimpse behind the scenes of voestalpine. In exciting guided tours, the guides convey background knowledge about steel, its production, processing and its various possible applications. Visitors will learn how car bodywork is made, about the secrets behind ordinary-seeming razor blades and how high-speed railway tracks can be up to 120 m long. On the child-friendly family tours, the content is made particularly exciting for younger visitors. Multimedia guides are available for individual visitors.

Tour of the plant
After the tour, you will head out in multi-media buses onto the 5 km2 voestalpine factory premises and get up close and personal with the most modern plant in the world of steel. This enables visitors to experience the production plants for themselves as they come to the blast furnace, hot rolling mill or Automotive Components. A tour of the plant is only possible as part of a guided tour. From Monday to Saturday, individual visitors are able to join a group tour, as long as there are still places available on the pre-booked guided tours.

Extraordinary architecture
Even the architecture of the voestalpine Stahlwelt is definitely worth seeing. The building is reminiscent of a periscope and opens up a unique perspective on the voestalpine factory premises. Over five floors, the architecture will particularly astound you with its alternation between various different spaces, opening up a multifaceted world of adventure.

VOESTALPINE CONTEMPORARY HISTORY MUSEUM

www.voestalpine.com/zeitgeschichte

"One step ahead" is voestalpine's motto and philosophy. With this museum, the corporation takes a look back – into its own history – and thereby carefully and extensively explores the dark chapter of its early years. voestalpine is doing this out of responsibility for its own history and in the knowledge that only those who confront their pasts can also look towards the future. The museum is dedicated to the forced labourers who were made to work by the Nazis in Linz for the "Reichswerke Hermann Göring AG Berlin". It stands for responsible interaction with the corporation's history and critically confronts this dark chapter of Austria's past.
